And where is a more perfect place to peek than through a keyhole! We, the Editors of your annual, invite you to view with us, page by page, the past year at L.H.S. Share with us all the many wonderful memories that have typified our high school days. As you peek through the keyhole at the opening of each section, may you see in pictures the loyal spirit that is evident everywhere at L.H.S.

We wish to express our deepest appreciation for the countless hours of work and guidance of our sponsor, Mrs. Wilson, and the always-faithful cooperation of our capable staff. Serving as your editors for this "Peek Into the Past" has indeed been the most enjoyable, fun-filled, yet continually difficult, experience of our high school days.

It is with great hope and expectation that we give you your year at Longview High School. May you receive as much joy seeing it in this annual as you did living it.

This being the Fiftieth Anniversary of the annual at Longview High School, touches of gold have been added in various parts of our book to commemorate this event.

Many years of untiring service to Longview High School, along with her cheerfulness, and genuine dedication, and cooperation have helped us to make our choice for dedication. It is with sincere humility and appreciation that we dedicate this, our 1963 LOBO to MISS BERA LAMBERT.

Miss Lambert's hobby is sewing for her niece, Sarah.

Miss Lambert counsels with one of her many student teachers.

Future Teachers presented Miss Lambert the first annual "Teacher of the Year" award.

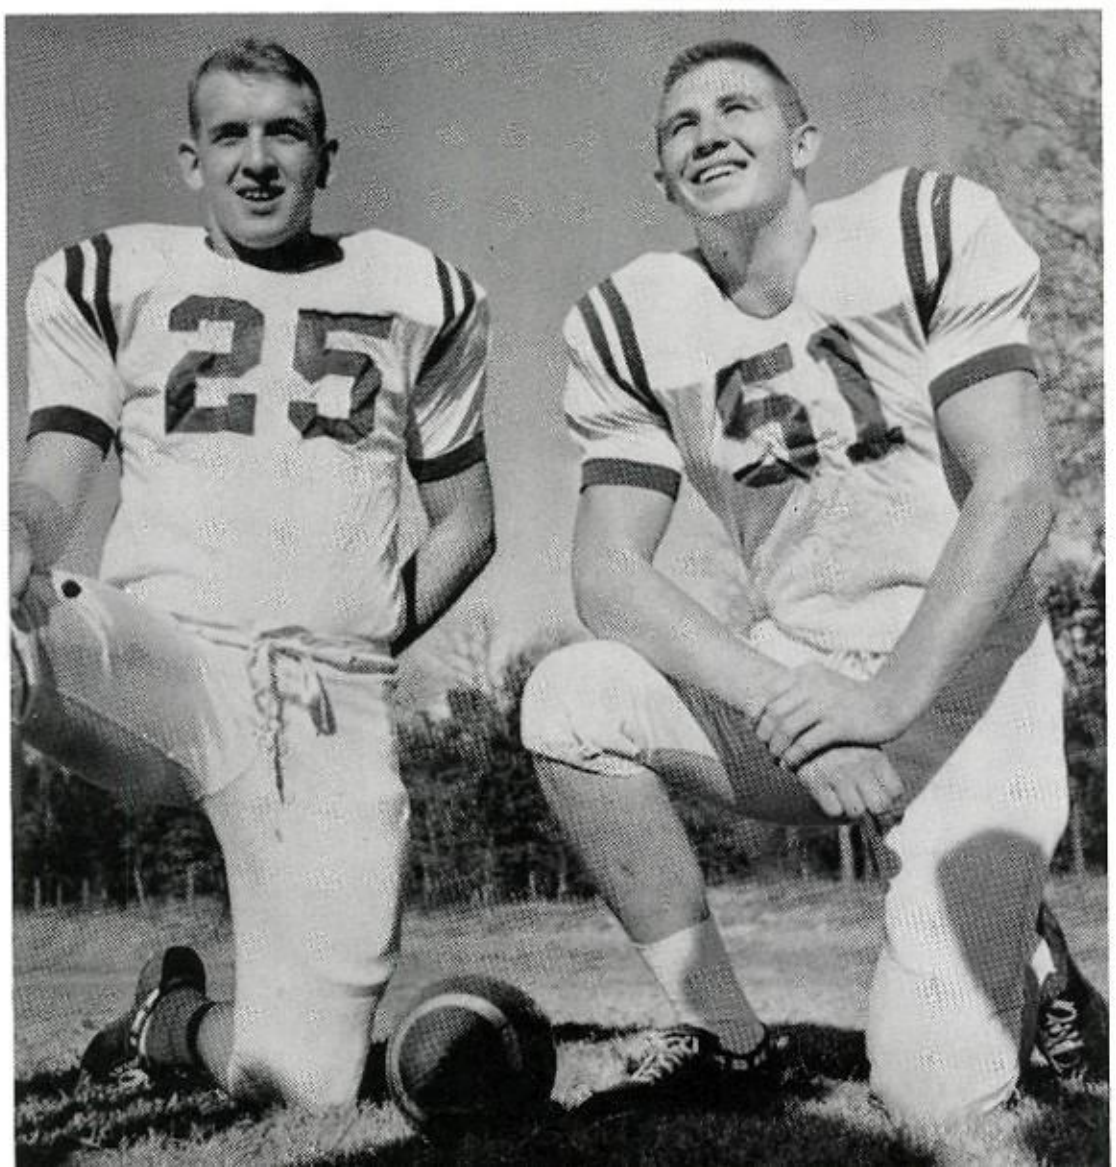
LOBO CAPTAINS

The Lobos were without the services of Dan for a few games this year as Dan was out with a knee injury for half the season. Dan's leadership and great play inspired the Lobos greatly on and off the field of play.

Dan McMahon



Loyd's fiery leadership inspired the Lobos to greater play many times during the past season. Loyd's fine all-around play earned him all-district and all-state honors during the past season.

The Lobos have never had two better all-around captains. We certainly hate to lose Loyd and Dan.

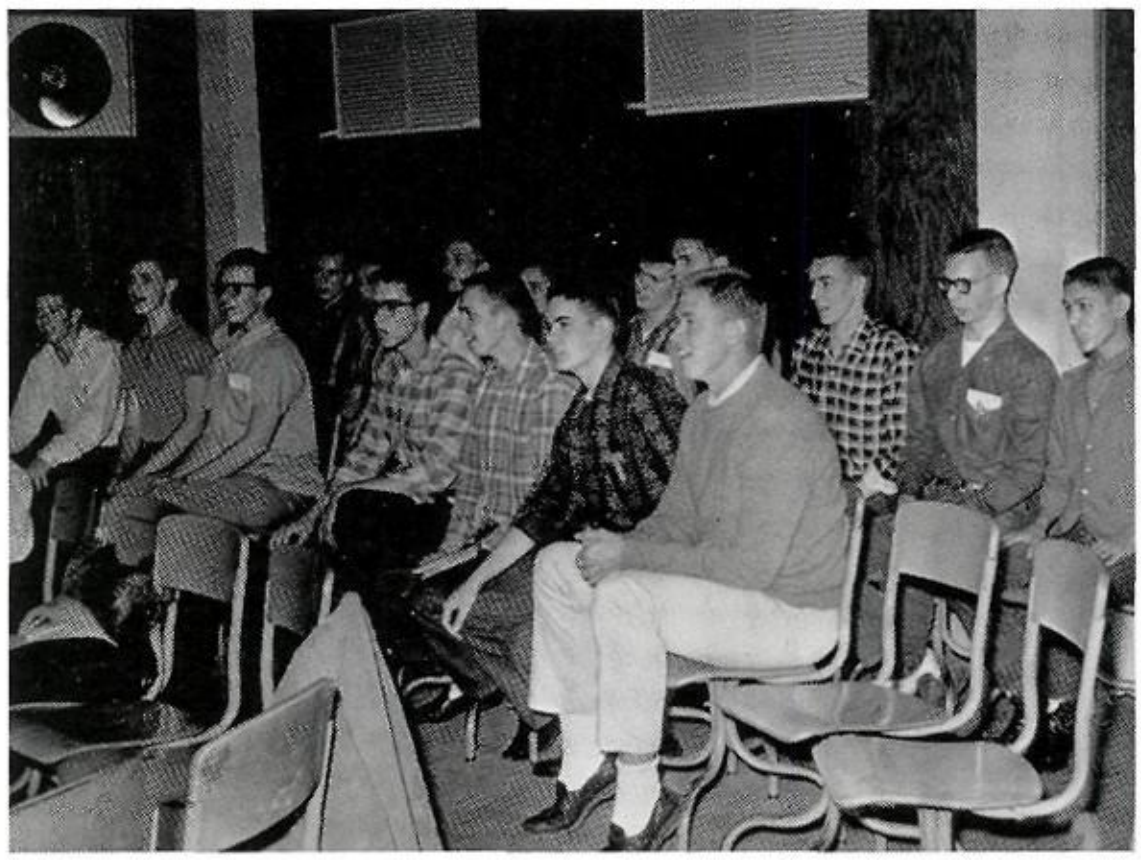
Boys' Chorus Spends Spare Time Preparing for Performances

Here they are—really singing.



The Boys' Chorus serves as an intramural choir for all boys in school; however, boys in other school choirs are required to participate. It organizes in the second semester of each year to prepare for the Choral Contest which is held in the spring, and performs for various civic functions.

Practice makes perfect.

This chorus of sophomore girls study as a separate choir and, like other groups, combine their voices with other choirs for such special occasions as assemblies, concerts, contests, and baccalaureate.

"Where are those layouts? Why haven't you done them yet? Tomorrow is the deadline! Can't you do anything right?"

"Where are my pictures? Why isn't that blowup here? Who can take a picture this afternoon? RAIN? OH! NO! Anything but that!"

These are familiar sounds that come from the Annual room. Through all the confusion, frustration, and despair, Ronnie and Jimmie carry on a fine job with the help of our sponsor, Mrs. Wilson. Putting out an annual is not an easy job. It takes hard work, much time, and effort. Many sacrifices have to be made in order to make pictures and deadlines. These are the reasons that staff members are chosen for their cooperativeness, willingness to work in harmony, and their ability to learn knowledge of journalism in a short time. For in Longview High School there are no special journalism classes for annual workers.

Each year the LOBO is graded by the Texas High School Press Association judges in the summer. A T.H.S.P.A. convention is held in Denton the following fall and delegates from the LOBO attend workshops. This year the LOBO was privileged to receive an All-Texas rating.

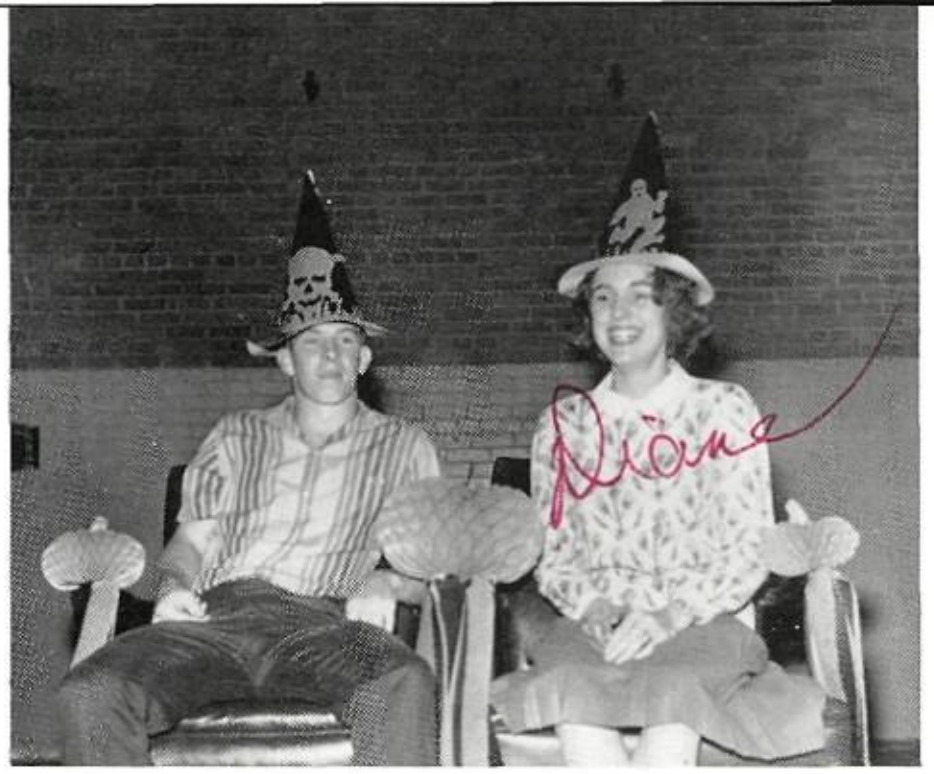
The voice of student government in Longview High School is the Student Council. The Council speaks for the students in school activities and educational programs. Elected representatives, alternates, and officers make up the membership of the organization sponsored by Mr. Wester and Mrs. Roark.

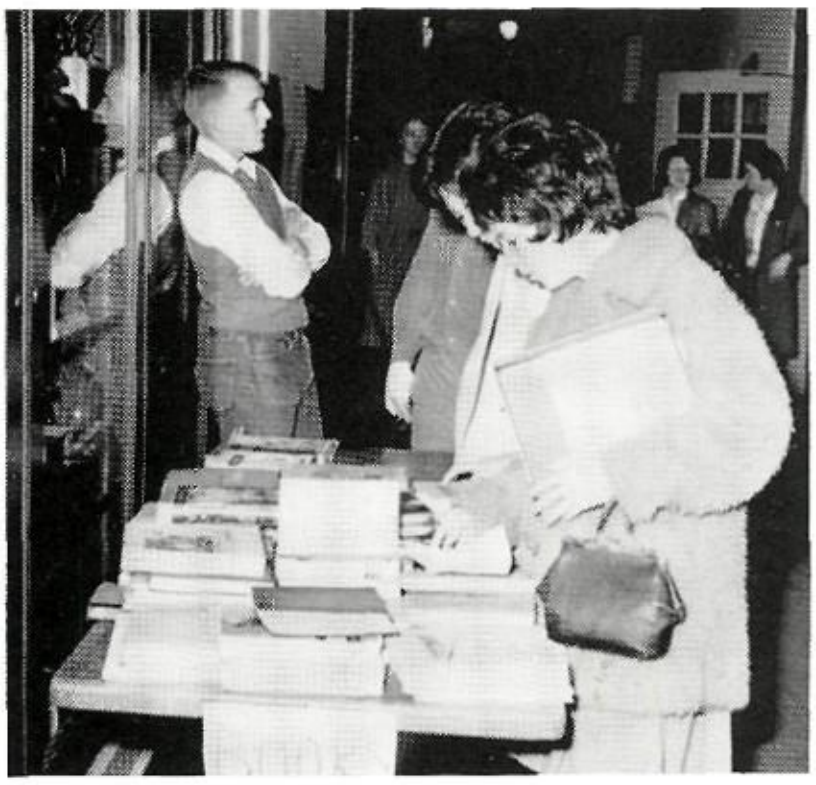
Some of the many worthwhile projects of the Council are to provide interesting assemblies for the student body, and to sell plastic covers and name plates for the LOBO. Each year the student directory is compiled by members of the Council and sold to raise funds for expenses. During the year special school dances are sponsored by the Student Council. This year for the first time the Council had a textbook Round-Up for the purpose of recovering and returning lost textbooks.

In the spring the newly-elected officers attend the State Convention in Abilene. Officers' workshop this summer will again be attended. Delegates from the Council attended the annual East Texas Forum held this year in Greggton at Pine Tree High School.



Bob Wise and Diane Porter were elected Halloween King and Queen at the annual Halloween dance sponsored by the Student Council.

Representatives Bob Goodwin and Mike Collier sell Student Directories as one of the Council's projects.



Student Council officers supervise table where students bring lost books to be returned to the rightful owner.

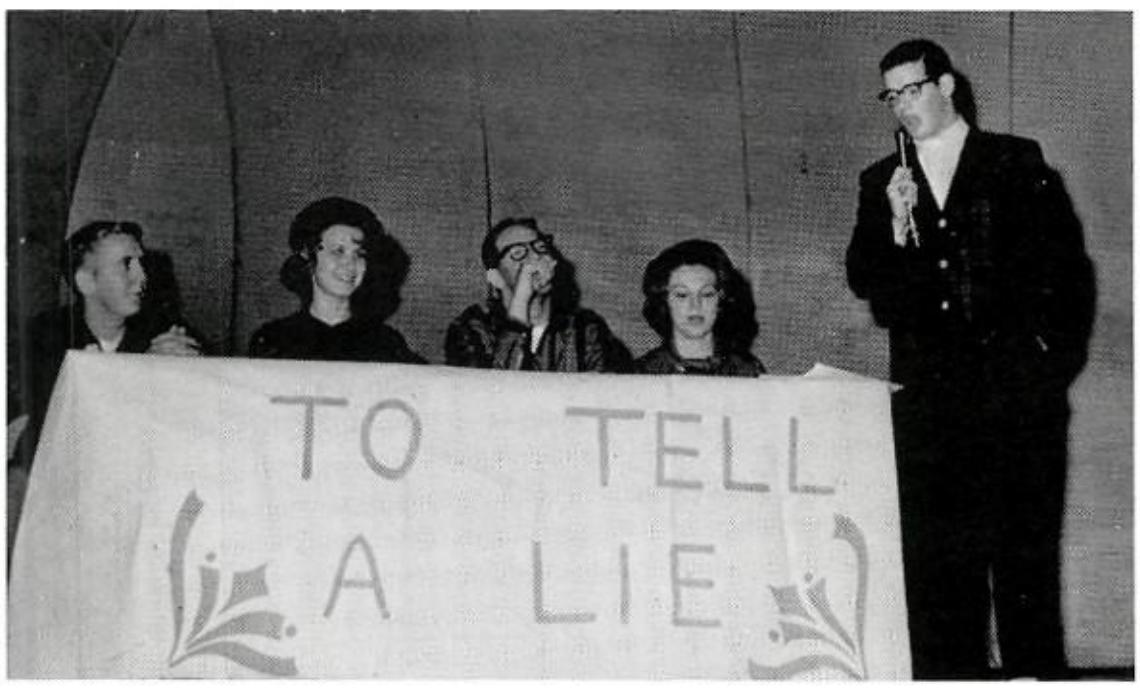
Student Council Strives for School Improvement

Candidates and workers competed on Saturday morning before campaign week to cover walls with posters of all sizes.

Candidates discuss different ideas and problems concerning their posters and campaigns.

The theme of the "Beverly Hillbillies" was used effectively through singing and costuming in one of the skits.

True-to-life but humorous, was a skit about the "activities" of the parking lot.



Some of the skits were "take-offs" on television programs such as this one, "To Tell A Lie."

Finally, after the vigorous campaigning skits and speeches, the candidates appear before the student body before ballots are cast.

Junior Civitans Encourage Leadership

Carolyn Shoemaker talks with Civitan President, Curtis May, after being announced the Junior Civitan Sweetheart for 1963.

To inspire future citizens and to encourage leadership in the community is the main goal of the Junior Civitans, sponsored by the Longview chapter of senior Civitans. The members are voted in by previous members and are expected to maintain a certain average to hold membership.

The club has taken part in many activities this year including cake sales, car washes, and selling packages of light bulbs door-to-door. The club sent Christmas cards to the faculty and co-sponsored the annual Anchor-Civitan Club Christmas dance. Also this year a group of members provided entertainment for part of the senior Civitan convention held in Longview.

Classes in cooperative occupational training are one of the most recent additions to the Longview High School curriculum. To both vocational students and the industry of Longview this addition has been an important one. It is of benefit to the student in that it prepares him for his chosen vocation, and of aid to our community in that it produces a supply for the demand for trained employees.

These classes afford students of Junior and Senior standing both practical and theoretical training in a variety of trades and occupations. Practical work experiences are provided the student through part-time employment each afternoon at some cooperating business or industry, within the city. Our school provides technical instruction under the supervision of Mr. Douglas Mackey. Students may enroll in two other high school subjects needed for graduation.

The course is set up for two years of training and carries four affiliated credits. Students receive wages comparable to those paid beginning workers in the same occupations.

Typical occupations acceptable in the program are: auto mechanics, auto body repairing, electrical work, building trades, machine shop work, radio servicing, refrigeration servicing, welding.

LONG-VIEW Wins All-Texas . . .

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Vivian Green

If passing by Room 215 fourth and fifth periods, one sees the journalism classes and the editors of the "Long-View" busily working to meet a deadline. With the help of sponsor, Mrs. Hutchings, the journalism students put out our biweekly paper. Due to the efforts of these students, the "Long-View" received an All-Texas rating in state-wide competition of the Texas High School Press Association.

The cost of the "Long-View" is paid for by subscriptions, single copy sale of the paper, and advertising. The remainder of the cost is paid for by the main money raising project, the Queen's Coronation held in October.

The "Long-View" staff spent many back-breaking hours with make-up and layout in order that it could continue to be one of the great voices of our school. The students of L.H.S. appreciate the efforts put forth by the journalists on the "Long-View" staff and will continue to praise the paper and its achievements.

Journalists sell papers during fourth period on alternating Fridays.

Latin students, desirous of knowledge about ancient Roman life, join the Latin Club. Mrs. Montgomery and Mrs. Baushke co-sponsor a Roman-style banquet and supervise monthly meetings of the Club. These activities bring to life some of the events in the Roman life and interest the student in an ancient civilization.

Each year the club holds a slave auction, in which the first year students are sold to the second year students. The following morning they begin their tasks during a day in which they are at the command of their masters.

As Longview High School's recreational center, the Round-Up Club affords students the use of pool and ping-pong tables, television, and a food bar. It also provides a dance floor for receptions and club parties. This year the club stressed the need for a 500-card membership so as to continue receiving United Fund support. Girls interested in a teaching career discover the potential of such through membership in the Henry Foster Future Teachers of America. The club requires of its members a "B" average, a fact which reveals an emphasis on selective recruitment of outstanding teachers.

The purpose of the club, co-sponsored by Miss Bera Lambert and Mrs. Silvia Collier, is to provide its members with experience to develop the qualities and aptitudes basic to successful teaching. Opportunities in the career of teaching are also studied.

In April, Future Teacher Month, the members will select their choice for the "Most Outstanding Teacher of the Year."

Our own Future Teachers' Club is sponsored by the Longview chapter of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association.

Longview High School's Queen's Coronation which is sponsored by the journalism class, has become one of the most popular and beautiful events of the school year. The journalism students, working with their sponsor Mrs. Hutchings, plan the coronation as their main fund-raising project. Only senior girls and their escorts may participate in the coronation. Members of the royalty, which includes the king and queen, prince and princess, dukes and duchesses, and ladies-in-waiting, are selected by popular vote of the entire student body. This year a new honor, the arch-duke and arch-duchess, has been added to the royal court.

Lobos 7—Texarkana 107, 1922
"Go beat Texarkana and Watty Myers for me!"

Our Wilkie, truly the best-liked person ever to teach at Longview High School, is about to leave its halls. Those of us who have had plane geometry under him will never forget that class, undoubtedly the very coolest!

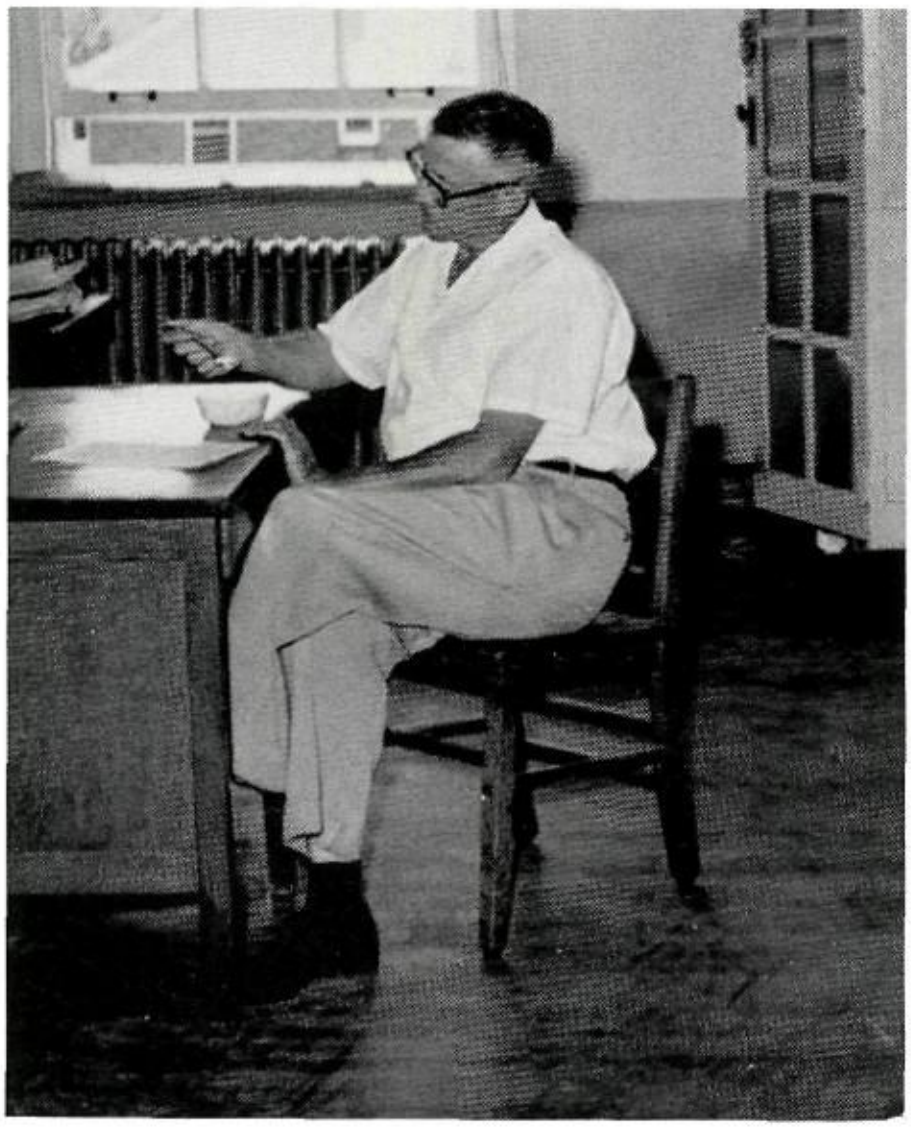
Along with "Plane G" Mr. Wilkie's students also learned much about the history of L.H.S. Wilkie was here when they built the school! There are several things even his students were not told. Did you know that at one time our mascot was the Lion and that our school colors were black and gold? Who changed them—Wilkie, who else! At first Lobos was spelled Loboes. Wilkie also had a hand in the changing of this. Yes, Wilkie has been quite an influential leader in his career here as teacher, coach, athletic director, and friend.

Speaking of coaches, the laughs that Wilkie brought forth as he told of his team's loss to Texarkana—107 to 7—were tremendous! Texarkana always seemed to give him trouble. A man riding out ot town on the top of a school bus must have been an unforgettable sight, eh, Wilkie.

To all of us Room 219 will always belong to our "most favorite" teacher. Mr. Wilkie, we'll never forget your class, the many things you did for us; and most of all, we'll never forget you!

Best Wishes
"Welkies"

"You better get this; it's on the final exam." (an everyday expression heard by Wilkie's students)



Wilkie leisurely spends a class period eating his favorite. dessert, home-made ice cream.

Our school board is made up of dedicated citizens, who spend many hours setting the policy of our school system. At the school board meetings each month, the members consider many matters important to the efficient operation of our school system. The members approve many courses which add breadth to our curriculum. The plans for the new science building have been directed and approved by the school board. We of Longview High School are exceedingly fortunate in having such a dedicated group directing our school policies.

Mr. T. G. Field, our principal, combines his cheerful personality with the ability to discipline when he feels it necessary. He shows an unusual amount of patience and understanding by giving us frequent breaks and assemblies. To each student with whom he confers about schedules, he gives expert advice on the basis of that student's interests and abilities. We students are indeed fortunate to have such a man as our principal.

Mr. Field checks a student's record before writing a recommendation for college.

As guidance counselor, Mr. Melvin Wester performs many helpful services. He is always prepared to discuss college or employment after graduation with each student. Many tests for evaluating the student's abilities and progress are administered by him each year. He also administers the College Board tests several times a year. Besides his regular duties, Mr. Wester takes an active part in sponsoring the Student Council and working with other school groups.

Our language department provides us with a strong background in the many phases of language. Creative writing, in which good vocabulary, logic, and correct grammar are stressed, plays an important part in our English classes. Reading and understanding the great literature of the ages gives us a strong cultural background. Speech courses are helpful in developing more effective styles of verbal communications. Our courses in foreign languages help strengthen our cultural background further, while also providing a firm foundation for more detailed language courses in college.

Each generation profits from the experience of preceding generations. Students often receive individual help on difficult problems.

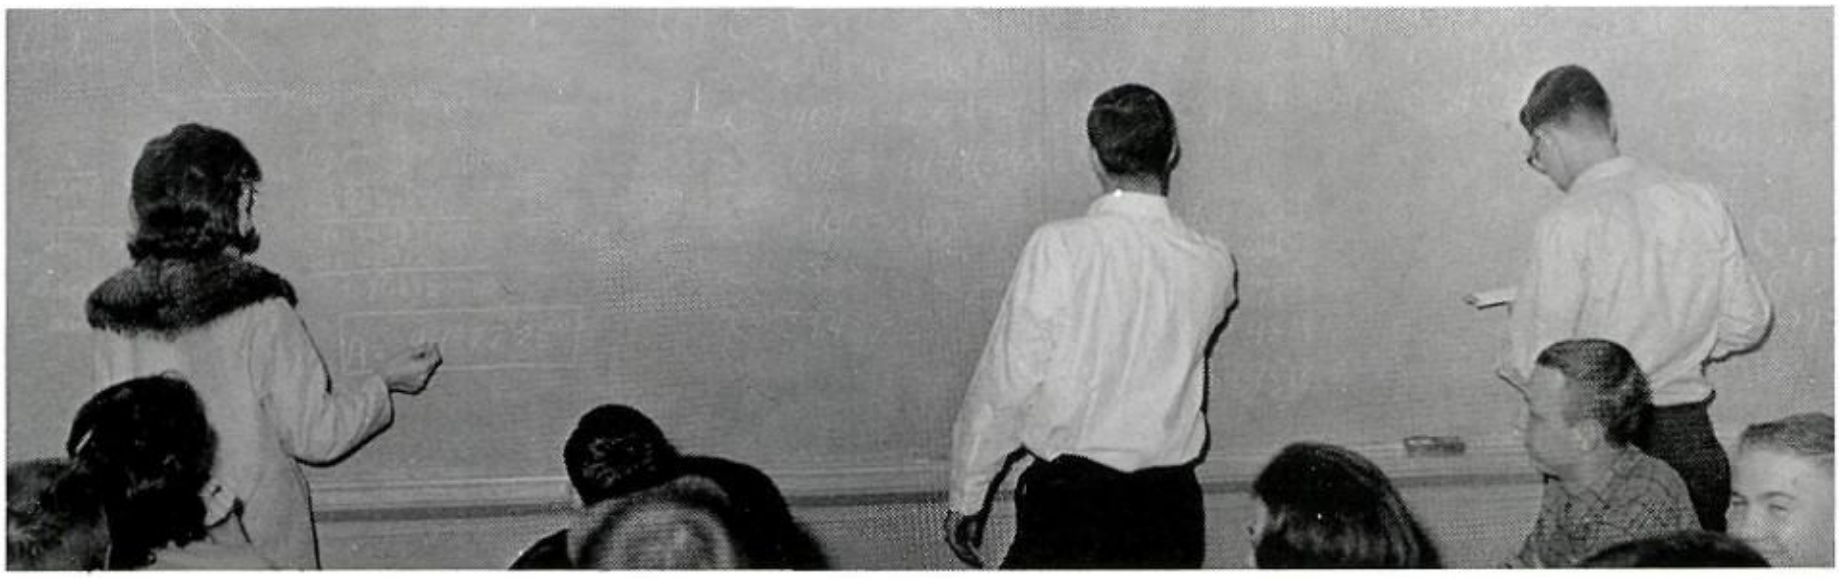
Plane geometry students work problems on the board.

In mathematics a wide variety of courses is offered. These courses include algebra, plane geometry, trigonometry, and mathematical analysis. This curriculum offers both the basic courses needed by everyone and the advanced courses for those who plan to pursue college courses in which higher math is needed.

Mr. Turner clarifies a point with an explanation on the board.

Higher Math Courses Provide Basis for Future Work



In trigonometry students work with right and oblique triangles and their functions. Some of the topics covered in this course are oblique triangles, inverse functions, radian measure, and graphs of functions. Besides providing an intellectual stimulus, this course provides a stepping stone for higher math.

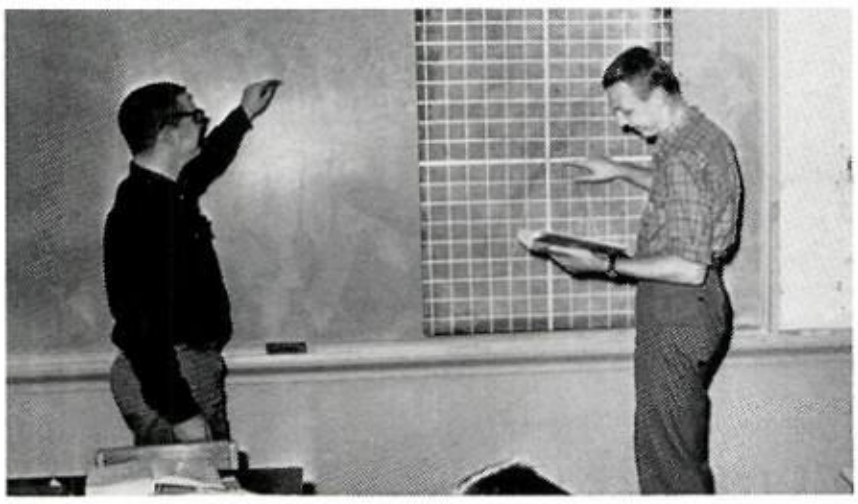
C. C. TURNER
Algebra II, Trigonometry, Mathematical Analysis; B.A., Baylor; M.A., E.T.S.C.



Mathematical Analysis gives an introduction to higher mathematics on the college level. Many of the subjects covered are familiar from other math courses, but they are covered in more detail. The derivation and analysis of formulas holds an important place in this course. Introductory calculus is one of the most interesting topics.

Films facilitate understanding biology.

Dissecting a fish requires care and skill.

As our modern world becomes more technical, the need for a strong background in the sciences increases. Our science department offers courses in biology, chemistry, and physics. These courses are taught on a fairly advanced level. An advanced science course may be added next year for those students who have completed the regular science course by their junior year. Much emphasis is placed on lab work which includes experiments designed to illustrate the basic principles of each science.

Students write up exepriments in the lab manual.

a Well-Rounded Scientific Background

Chemistry students solve problems in class periods.

Bill and Johnny determine acceleration in physics lab work.

Conservation of energy experiment is discussed by physics students.

Shop students gain skill in using machines.

Our vocational curriculum includes many courses which provide valuable training for both college and non-college bound students. Our I. C. T. and D. E. courses combine classwork with on-the-job experience. In many of the other vocational courses natural abilities are discovered and perfected by constant practice. Our vocation department teaches subjects which would help in any field a student chose.

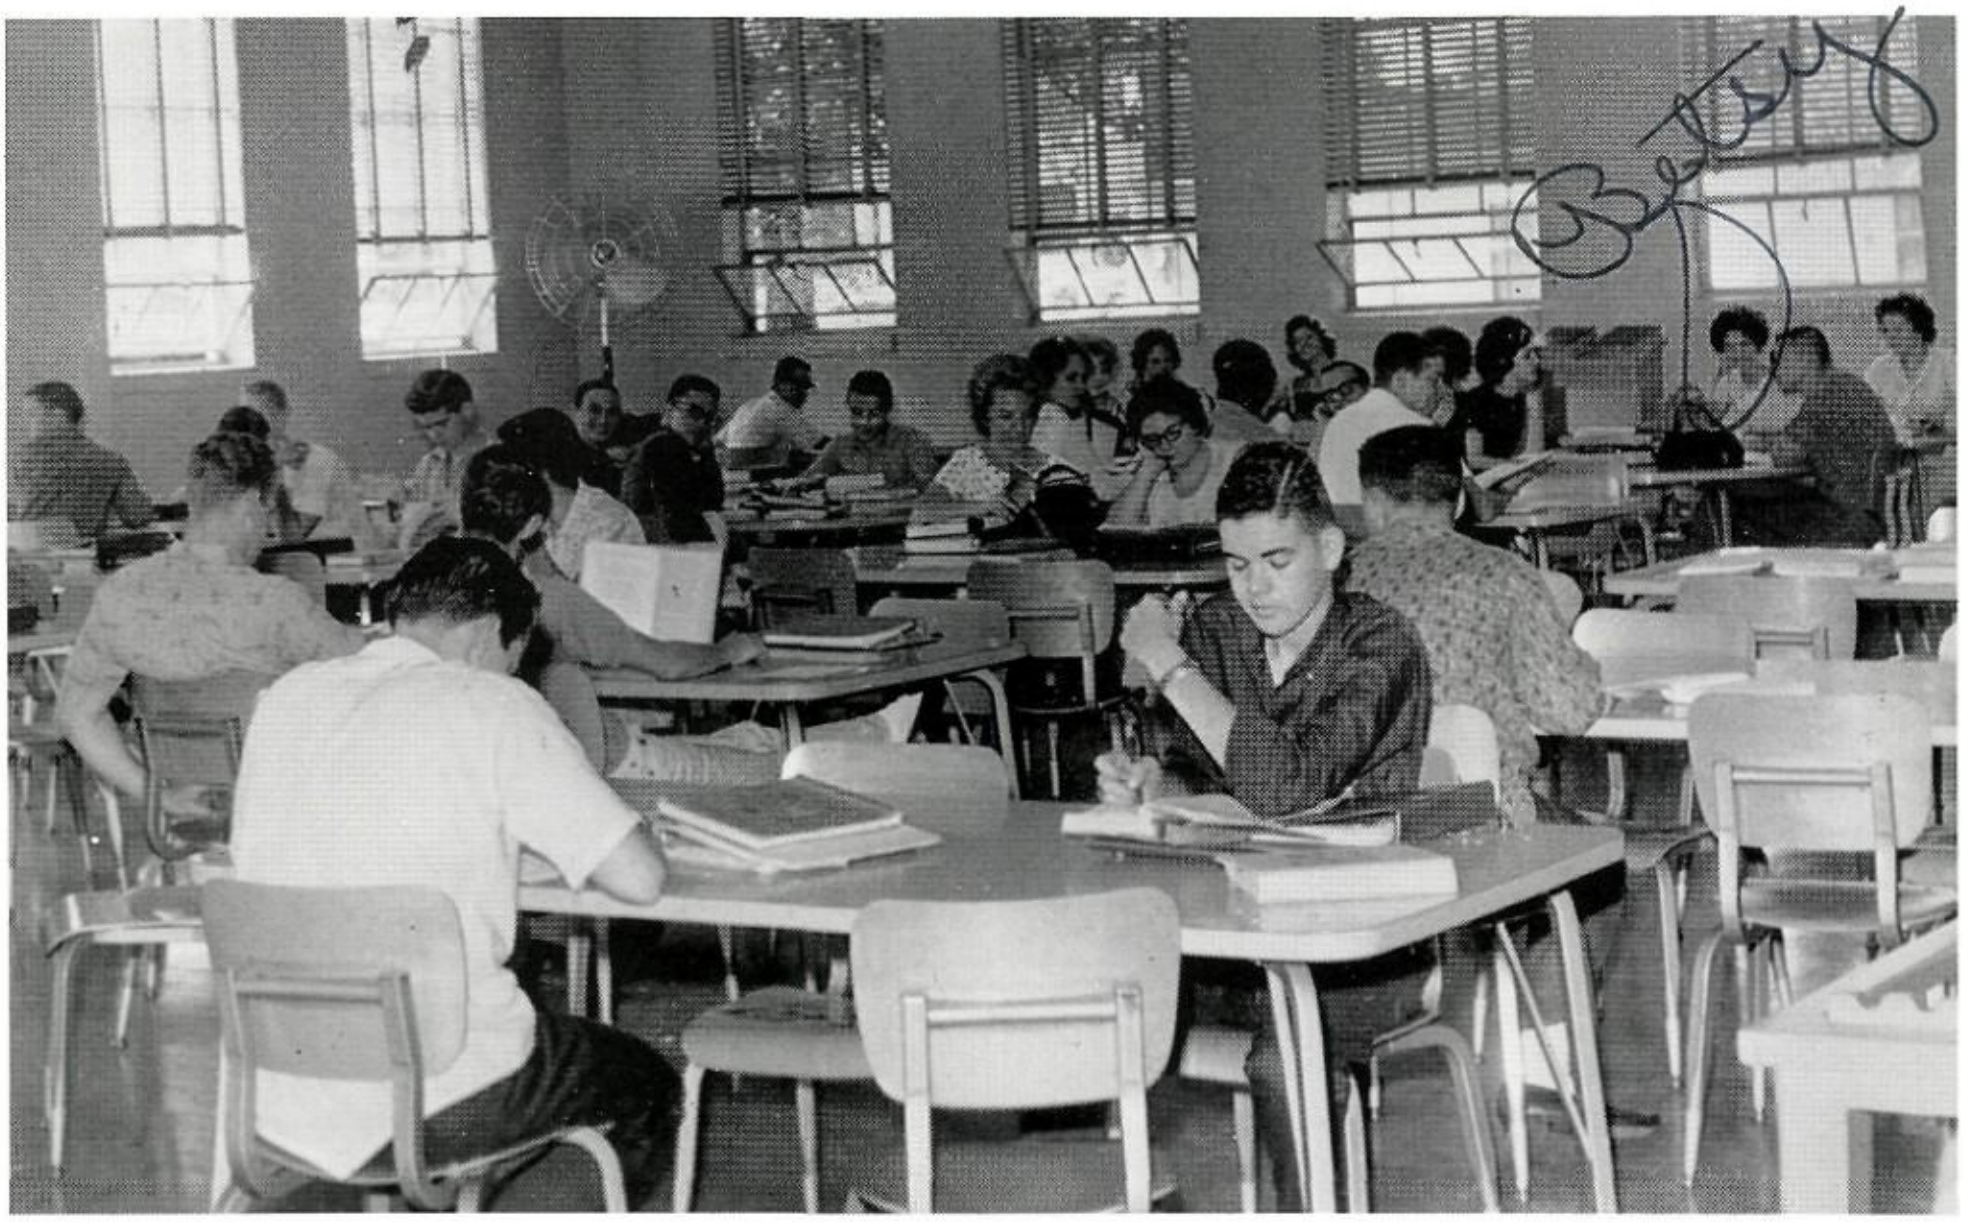
Research work is carried on in the quiet atmosphere of the library.

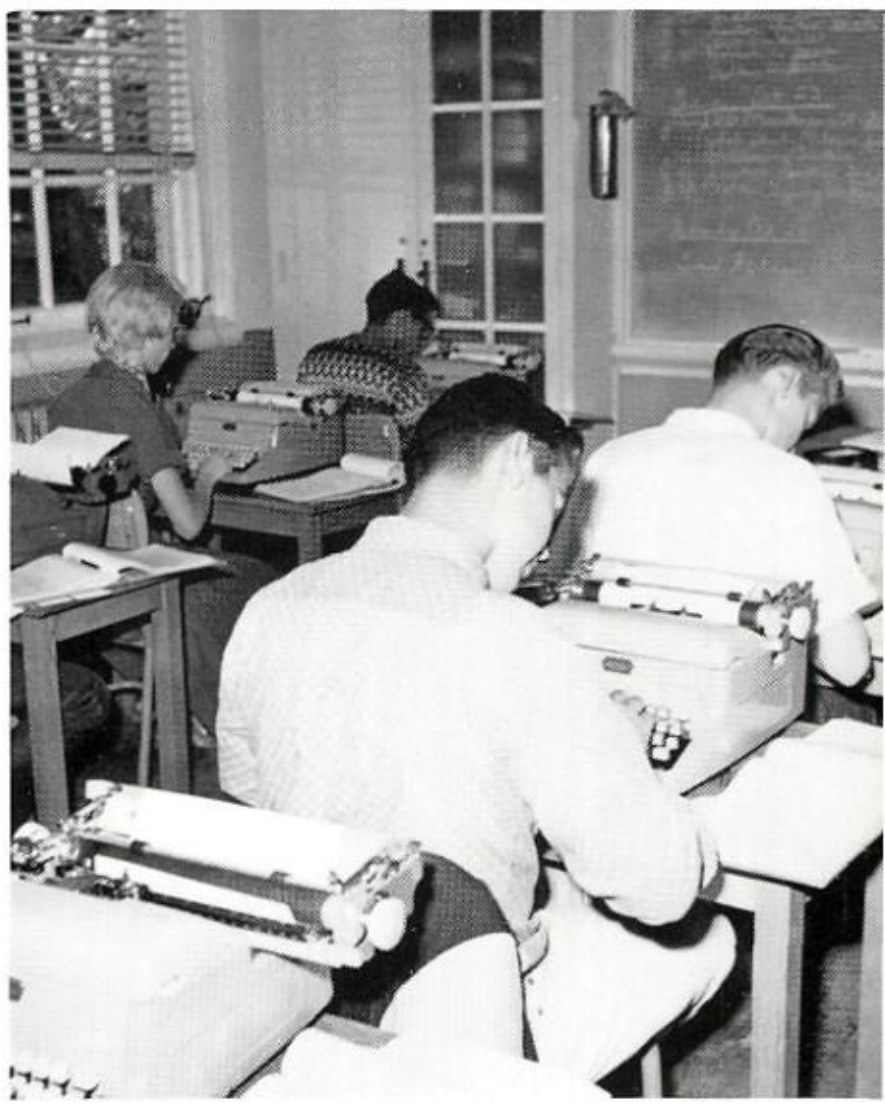
Nearly all of our courses require outside study and research. The study hall and library offer the facilities for much of this work. Our library has a wide range of reference materials as well as many books used for our English book reports. The study hall offers quiet for those who wish to study.

Study hall provides an opportunity for students to do extra assignments.



Students Prepare for Careers in Business World

Bookkeeping students work their practice set.



Students become skilled in typing by constant practice.

The business department offers courses in typewriting, bookkeeping, shorthand, and business machines. These courses are valuable for those planning to enter the business world as well as for those planning to enter other occupations.

Girls choose sides for a volleyball game in P.E.

Majorettes perform at our pep rallies.

Our concert choir gives many excellent assemblies throughout the year.

Musical Development Is Provided Through Choirs, Band

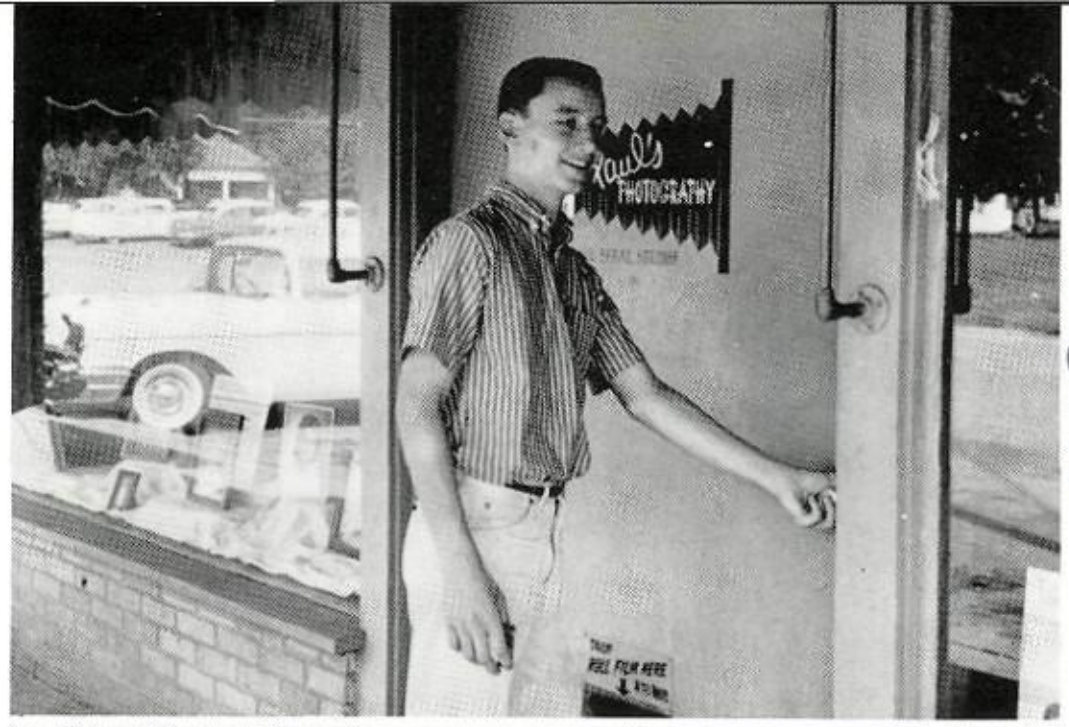
Confident After Sophomore Term, They Swagger on to Two More Years at LHS

Two Sophomore lovelies confidently display the latest fashions as they assume the ranks of upperclassmen.



Dear Betty,
Well Just think you will be gone to "ole" TCU pretty soon. and I'll be in "ole" Boarding School and we'll both be raisin' hell. Thank God we can get out of this town We've have really raised some hell this year though. Remember all the times - "Ray Charles" Well - I hope you will write me in school ; I'll do the same. I feel like this is My Senior year since its the last - But it couldn't be - In fact it won't be that next year - I'ma swinging "65" probably -
Well gotta go before I run over Nancy Parker -

Linda Earhart

Well Betty Butt,
We've almost come this year up. We'll miss the Jrs. & Sophs. hating us. Remember the time one Sat. when Josie, you & Sue & I camped out at the D.C.'s? First time in the daytime. Lots of luck at TCU!

Can you believe we are almost out of school? We have had a lot of fun these three years and you are one of the greatest persons I have ever met. Remember last year at lunch when we would take about 20 people every day? Really, you are a wonderful girl and I hope we can always be friends. Have there hell this summer at school.

Dear Boughie,
Hell ——
It's been a long year but it has really been fun! Rember that Christmas dance in Kilgore - Johnny was so funny! and how could we forget New Year's Eve? — Jimmy Reed, and that beautiful "candleholder" I wanted so bad. Remember the daily trips to Bopp's to call across the street to the pool hall? (Thank heaven we got a snooker room!) And what about my birthday - Joe D. conked out in Johnny's car from 9:00 til 11:30? How about all these 1st & second periods we missed - Oh me!! But how could it all have happened unless you made me do what I did that sun. afternoon - And look what happened! all because of you. I love you lots and I hope you pass at TCU (?) I'll be up there to see you! Love,
Josie

Dear Betty
It's hard to believe we will soon be graduating but what is harder is that we will soon be leaving for college - God willing we will soon be together again. This summer is a blast! I have great fun / God Bless You

Love,
Robert

Dear Betty Ann —

I can't understand why in the world I feel an attachment toward you but it's there just the same. After all the cuties you've pulled like writing on the picture & things I could be a little peeved, but for some strange reason, I like it for some strange reason. I like thrilled with our friendship!

Much love — Judy Watson
